

Equipment to help you at home

If you are having difficulty managing certain tasks at home (for example getting in/out of the bath, dressing yourself, walking safely or standing up from your chair/bed) then you may benefit from some equipment to help.

Some independent living aids may be obtained free of charge so check with your GP or health care professional before buying products. You can also contact your local borough Social Services and ask to speak with a Community Occupational Therapist for advice about obtaining equipment or to be assessed for changes in the home. If you wish to be assessed for a long term wheelchair then please contact your local wheelchair service via your local borough social services.

The list below provides information about organisations who offer advice, loan or sell equipment to help you cope at home.

For more information about what care and support can be arranged for you, please ask for Macmillan's booklet "Going home from hospital".
