

Benefits advice

A diagnosis of cancer affects not just your health — it can also have an impact on your finances. You might need to stop working, or work less. You may also incur extra costs, eg, travel to hospital appointments. Depending on your situation, you may be able to claim benefits or other financial support to help you.

This list gives details of agencies that provide advice on benefits and/or debt management. It also lists some of the financial support that may be available to you.

Help with hospital travel costs

You may be eligible for help with paying for the cost of transport to and from the hospital for clinic and treatment appointments. This includes bus and train fares and fuel costs but not taxi costs.

You can claim a refund if you get certain benefits or qualify for the NHS Low Income Scheme. Full details of eligibility are in Macmillan Cancer Support's booklet 'Help with the cost of cancer'.

Take proof of your eligibility, eg, benefit award letter, and of your travel costs, eg, receipt or ticket, to the Cashier's Office in the main building of Mount Vernon Hospital: Monday–Friday, 8.30am–3.30pm.

For further information, please speak to Patient Affairs (020 3826 2343).

Help with getting to hospital

Patients who are unable to travel by public or private transport for medical reasons may be eligible for non-emergency transport to appointments at Mount Vernon Cancer Centre.

For more information on patient transport services, see our factsheet: Patient transport services (HHC265).
